DEDICATION

In the future years when we look back on our high school days, we will have many fond memories. Among them a great teacher will stand out because of his strong devotion to youth.

We shall never forget his classes where we were taught to love geometry as he did. He also shared with us his many interests, including Amos Alonzo Stagg, Gerry Geisler, Steinmetz, and The Lady of the Lake. We will remember him as a friend to all. Although he was one of the busiest men we knew, he always found time to treat us as individuals. He was always willing to help everyone.

Because of his great ability to serve as a teacher and friend to youth, the Senior Class, with deep admiration, dedicates the 1964 Torch to Mr. Donald H. Randall.

IN MEMORIAM

On November 22, 1963, John F. Kennedy was shot while traveling in a motorcade in Dallas, Texas. As the stunning word flashed around the globe, people great and small simply stopped and stared in disbelief. First came tears, then halting words. Reporters stopped people on the streets to see what their reaction was to the death of their president. A college student felt "as if the end of the world had come, and you are not prepared for it." Others said, "Your thoughts just don't work at a time like this." In almost every country there was mourning. People wept, prayed, stood silent in the streets, or lit torches to parade sadly through the night. Americans learned how many people of other lands respected Kennedy, and the loss that they felt was the loss of one who seemed to them a personal friend as well as a world leader.

The reason why the shock was so great was that when one heard the news he felt suddenly so empty; it was the most unexpected thing that could be imagined. It was the least likely thing to happen to the world. That Kennedy should be the one, well, we just didn't believe in assassination any more, not in a civilized world.

Another reason why the shock was so great on American people was the extraordinary sense Kennedy gave of being alive. No one had such vitality of personality. Following his death, many of his speeches were recorded and sold throughout the country, along with books of his life and the tragedy of his death. People from all over the country bought these books and records to keep in memory of him.

No one will ever forget November 22, 1963. They will remember where they were when they heard the shocking news, and how they stood in disbelief of that terrible tragedy that happened in Dallas.

CLASS HISTORY

Now we are Seniors and on the very threshold of life. As we look ahead we look ahead we often fail to look back and recall the events that are now memories. Behind us are six long years, years of hard work mixed with many good times.

Who would ever think that we are the same group that entered Silver Lake in 1958. Feeling very small and confused, we groped our way around until we finally got the room numbers straight. This year many lasting friendships were formed, both in class and at the frequent dances put on by the Junior High.

We entered the eighth grade with a little more self-confidence and the pleasant feeling of having successfully come through our first year at Silver Lake. We were beginning to feel more a part of the school and a little excited about the coming year, when we would be freshmen.

As freshmen we were in for a few surprises. One was the feeling of again being at the bottom of the ladder. This disappeared as we became active in clubs and sports and found that the life of a freshmen is not as hard as it seemed. Another surprise was the mad rush we were thrown into between classes, quite different from the single-file of the Junior High. After the first rush of panic we began to enjoy it. Our money-making project was the sale of Silver Lake sweatshirts, and it was quite successful. We also had our own squad of cheerleaders to cheer on the freshmen teams. This year our officers were president, Kenneth Davis, vice president, Richard Arruda, secretary, Mary Reed, treasurer, William Gould, and historian, Catherine Harkins.

We began our sophomore year with the sale of pins. On November 4th, we put on a dance to try to build up our treasury for the coming year and the prom. This year we tackled such subjects as biology, where we dissected worms and peered into the microscope; geometry, where we tried to sort out and remember the numerous axioms and postulates; and Modern European History, where many students kept finding themselves in "Siberia." In the spring a long awaited moment arrived when we ordered our class rings. This year our officers were, president, Jerald Hogan, vice-president, Richard Arruda, secretary, Mary Reed, treasurer, Bonnie Wheeler, and Historian, Catherine Harkens.

Then we became Juniors and a step closer to graduation. This year the big event was the Junior Prom, and preparations for it began early in the year. As we painted yards of red stripes and scavenged for flowers, we began to wonder if we would ever finish in time. After long hours we did finish and "An Evening in Paris" was tres maifique. The highlight of the evening was the Grand March and the announcement of the queen, Debbie Bates, and her court, Ingrid Krueger, Julie McClelland, Virginia Glass, Cheryl Joubert, Linda Nickerson and Dale Souza. Following the prom we drove through the pouring rain for a delicious midnight dinner at Eugene's. The rain didn't dampen our spirits, however, and a good time was enjoyed by all. Our Junior class officers were president John McCann, vice-president Georgianne Doody, secretary, Mary Reed, treasurer, Bonnie Wheeler, and Historian, Catherine Harkens.

Finally we were Seniors and graduation seemed only a step away. The year began with the election of class officers. They were president, John McCann, vice-president, Robert Stewart, secretary, Mary Reed, treasurer, Bonnie Wheeler, and historian, Catherine Harkens. The Senior Class Play, "Ladies of the Jury," was a great success, though the spirit was somewhat saddened by the tragic death of the president, John F. Kennedy. In December there were college boards, applications, and the beginning of long periods of anxious waiting. With midyear exams we realized that the year was half over, and we would soon be leaving.

Now we have reached the end of our years at Silver Lake. For many there is sadness, though it is mixed with expectation of new experiences and new opportunities to come. Ahead is a new life; a door is soon opening for us, the door to the future.

May 10, 1963 is a date we will all remember. As we walked through the door of the gym we were transported to the gay streets of Paris, the town of romance. And romantic it was with the soft, misty lights, the little tables nestled under the striped canopy, and the girls in their beautiful gowns, dancing with their dates to the dreamy music of the band. The prom was followed by a late dinner at Eugene's and early morning breakfast parties.

The Junior Prom will be among the fondest memories of the Class of 1964.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

LADIES OF THE JURY

"Order, order. Mr. Pressley, you can't do that!"

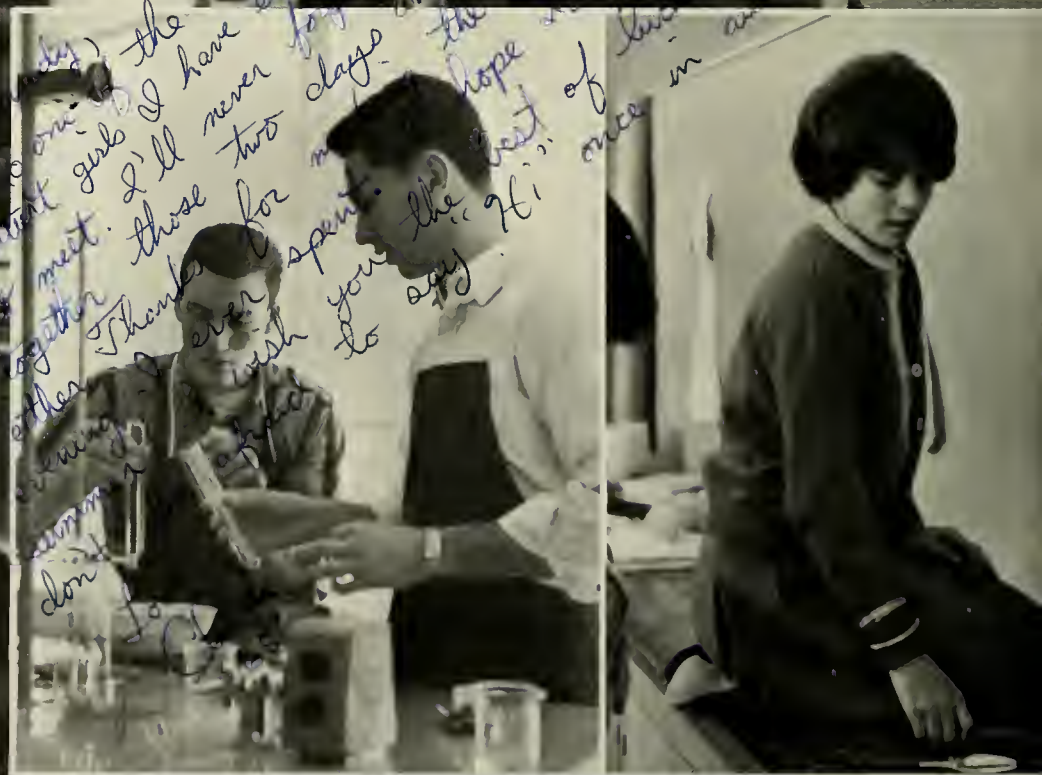

"Now my dear Mrs. Crane . . ."

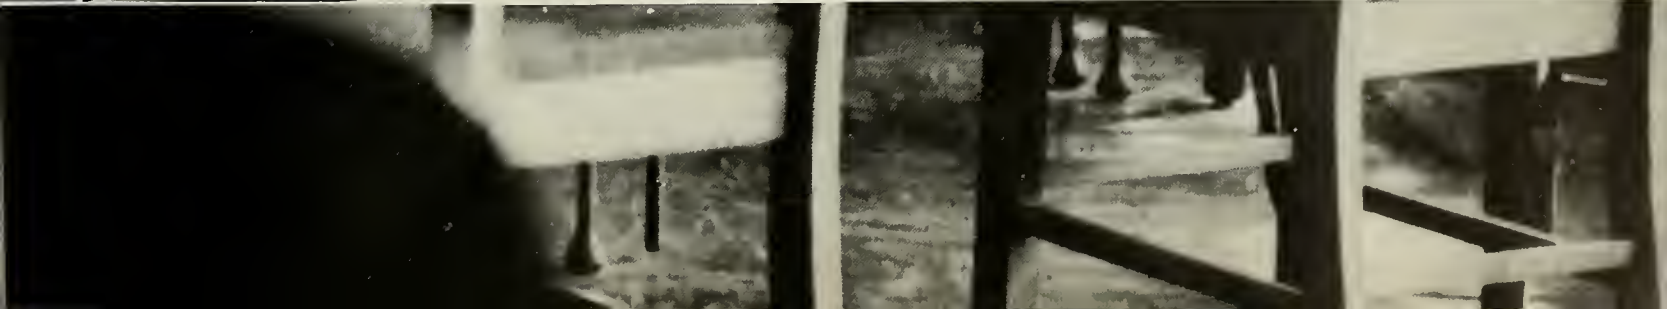

These are a few of the lines that could be heard echoing through the Little Theater as the class of 1964 presented senior class play, "Ladies of the Jury."

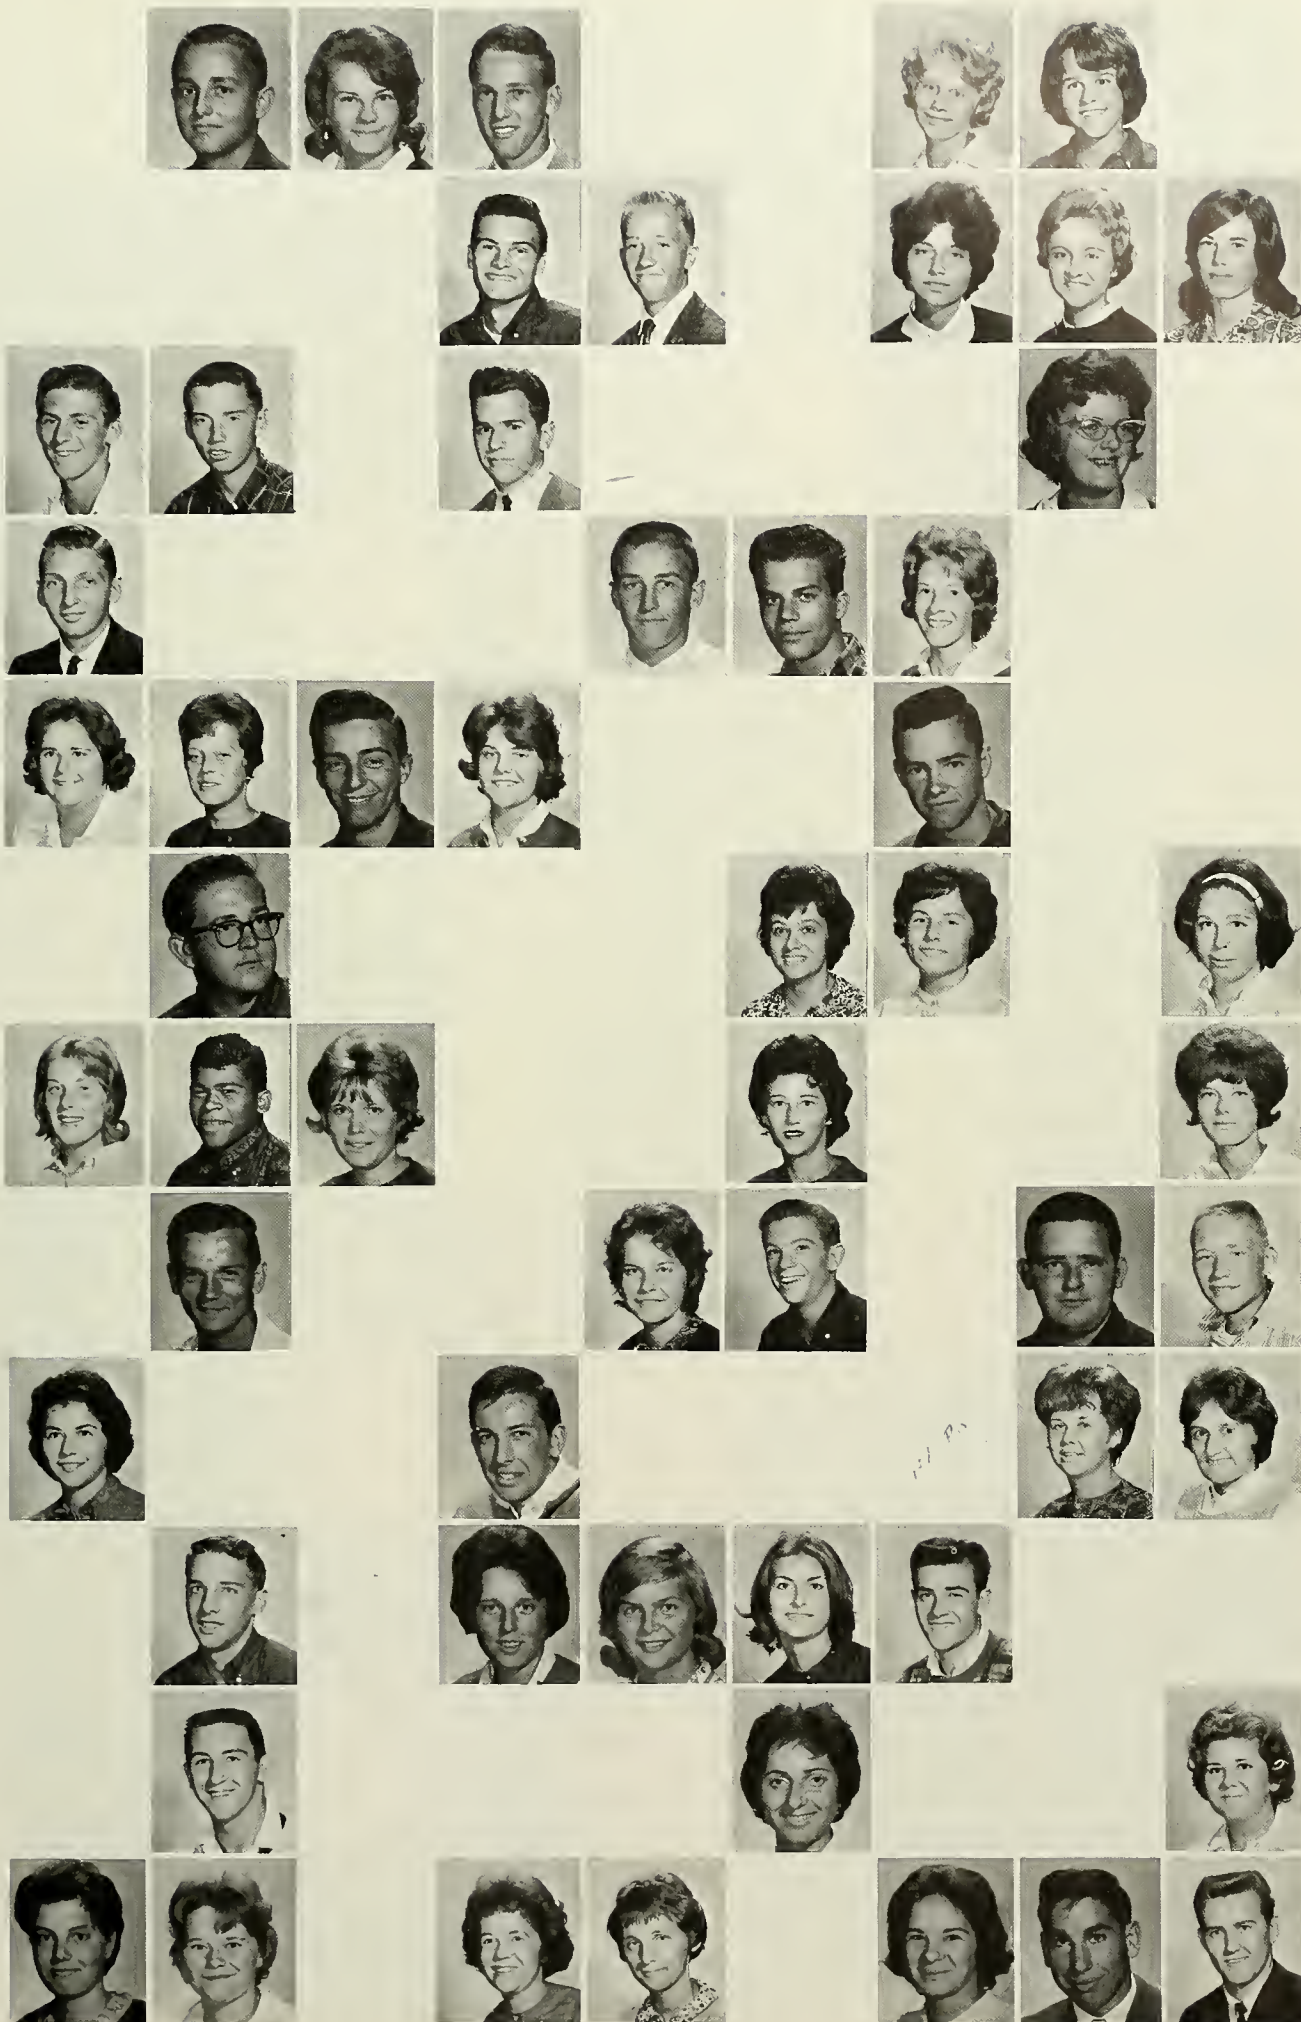

The play, directed by Miss Margeson, presented on December 4 and 5, after being rescheduled from November 22, the day of the death of John F. Kennedy. It was a big success and was enjoyed greatly by both the cast and the audience. "Ladies of the Jury" was indeed an event that few seniors will ever forget.

The purpose of the Silver Lake chapter of the National Honor Society is to encourage the student body to seek the ideals of Scholarship, Character, Leadership, and Service.

Under the leadership of president, Robert Randall, the society has accomplished much and upheld its ideals during the past school year.

The Student Council has had a full year. The success of the store and the vending machines enabled the council to continue its Achievement Awards and scholarship program.

Before Christmas, the council held a Sadie Hawkins Dance, which reversed the customary practice of boys asking girls. Jim Chupaila was chosen king of the dance. Under the capable guidance of Mr. Binns and Mrs. Lootz, the council was able to run smoothly throughout the year.

Every year the Silver Lake Key Club runs the football and basketball concessions to raise money which is used for two, two hundred dollar scholarships, and donations to various school organizations. The Key Club also runs a Christmas Food Drive each year; the proceeds are turned over to the town welfare boards to be distributed as they see fit. The officers and executive board members for the year 1963-64 are:

JEFF "66"

Silver Lake High's varsity football team enjoyed its most successful season since the establishment of the school and the team. A strong contingent of seniors was the mainstay behind our hard-hitting defense and our potent offense. Led by our co-captains Jim Chupaila and Jim Desnoyer, they compiled a seven and two record. The team and school were especially proud to have our coach, John Montosi, elected "Coach of the Year" in the Southeastern conference. We are equally proud of our other coaches, Mr. Girouard, Mr. McAleer and Mr. Carnathan.

Daddy,
Dear Abbie... I have a problem. I'm just about the nicest kid I know. I'd like to see you, and I'm sure you'll be a success. I want wish you the best of luck because you don't need any. Stay just the way you are, and don't ever change.

Phil
P.S. Remember the "Sweet McAdams Family" because this will be the last time you'll ever hear it. - I Promise!
